...MEMORIES OF YESTERYEAR...

Can we ever forget MIT? The buildings we have walked through day after day may not remind us of the Waldorf; time has worn its mark into every piece of wood—"S. T. loves J. K." But it is not the wood—we shall remember. As one of the fellows put it. "This place kind o' gets to yuh." He was talking about the people—the '62ers and '63ers whom you knew so well. You will meet them again as you cruise through this book; the guys who clustered in front of the cafeteria after supper and told jokes; those fellows who squeezed like sardines into the TV room for the World's Series; the crowd in the halls hurrying through cigarettes before chapel; those coke-drinkers and nap-nippers down at the Kit; piles of people—good-time Charlies, yelling co-eds; the all-night "parties" before exams; "glowing" remarks made by chapel conductors; our unofficial "bell-ringing" society; the gang who put up the decorations at dances, wiseguys who pulled them down, gals who brought them home (and you too, if you were lucky!); banquets and picnics; "smokers"; labs—"who took my microscope?"; typing drills—Miss Lane this roller won't work, "classrooms—"Well, who did discover America, anyway?" and last but not least, the long anxious faces at graduation.

September, and the returning for another year filled with many good times...those Friday night informals, what fun! then the long awaited Christmas semi-formal... lights low, soft, dreamy music, and your favorite fellow or girl in your arms...then the crowning of the Queen...

After all the hustle and bustle of Christmas, New Years, and exams, another dance is planned honoring St. Valentine's Day...another lovely dance with hearts and cupids, dancing in Cupid's Paradise...a night filled with many wonderful moments to remember...a glorious evening with souvenirs that will fill many scrapbooks, and years later will be looked back on with many fond remembrances...

Now the month is April...the rebirth of millions of lovely blossoms all around...the plans for the Junior-Senior Prom...the rustle and swish of long, flowing evening gowns...the heavenly atmosphere of orchids and dinner jackets...It is truly an exciting evening...

Another May Day...another Queen and court...another graduation...another year gone by; full of memories, gaiety, and laughter.
